

Of Divides and Solidarities: im/possible Alliances in the Global Middle East

Book Lecture Out of Gaza: A Tale of Love, Exile, and Friendship by Jewish-Israeli scholar Prof. Dr. Katharina Galor (Brown University)

Followed by a discussion with experts on:

- Sudan: Ahmed Isamaldin (activist, researcher, University of Khartoum)
- Syria: Yassin Swehat (journalist, Executive Editor, aljumhuriya.net)
- Palestine: Yasmeen Daher (International Research Group on Authoritarianism & Counter-Strategies, Universität Potsdam)

moderated by Prof. Dr. Naika Foroutan (BIM, HU Berlin)

In an era marked by genocidal wars and ongoing oppression, coexistence is often imagined as a fragile peace sustained by division. This event challenges such separations and asks how solidarity and strategic alliances can emerge precisely where borders are meant to harden.

Together, we explore the Global Middle East and its im/possible alliances – seeking to think about connection, resistance, and shared futures amid fragmentation.
